Thank you everyone for a fantastic semester. Students and faculty once again proved that great work is possible even in less than perfect conditions. I am impressed. I can't wait to see what we can do starting next fall.

For those of you heading off on an internship, work hard, have fun and show why we are ranked so highly. For those going on foreign study, safe travels and remember, it is not the number of places you check off on your list but how well you study and immerse yourself in the places you are.

Have a great holiday break and I look forward to seeing you in January.

Best,
Matthew Knox, AIA
Professor and Head
