COMMERCE BANK AND W.T. KEMPER FOUNDATION UNDERGRADUATE OUTSTANDING TEACHING AWARDS

Deadline: Wednesday, November 29

The original and current purpose of these awards is to recognize excellence in teaching performance in the undergraduate program and to provide an incentive to achieve that goal.

There are four $2500 awards made each year for excellence in undergraduate teaching. One award is made each year in the College of Arts and Sciences. The other three awards are rotated each year among six of the other colleges (Veterinary Medicine and Technology and Aviation are excluded), with three colleges making the awards one year and the other three the following year.

The final selections for these awards are made at the college level and all teachers are eligible. It is recommended that once an individual is selected to receive this award, that person should not be considered for a second award.

The selections for the awards are solicited from students, faculty, administrators. Nominations are submitted to the dean of the college in which the teacher is appointed. In order to be considered, the nominee must provide student evaluations from at least two but not more than three undergraduate classes that he or she has taught within the last three semesters. The student evaluations should be those obtained by participating in the program conducted by the Center for the Advancement of Teaching and Learning. It is the responsibility of the college deans to notify all nominees in their colleges of this requirement.

TEXTRON AVIATION INDUSTRIAL DESIGNER INTERNSHIP

Lift your career to new heights. At Textron Aviation, our culture allows you to grow within the company while building your career. Developing new leaders and encouraging innovative ideas are critical to the success of our organization. The Textron Aviation segment of Textron Inc. is the leading general aviation authority and home to the iconic Beechcraft, Cessna and Hawker brands which account for more than half of all general aviation aircraft flying.

The Industrial Designer is responsible for originating and developing ideas into designs that support the new aircraft development process. The candidate is required to perform duties in support of both the interior and exterior design of the aircraft such as design research, sketching, human factors layout, physical mock-up development, 3D computer modeling, coordination with other technical groups, status reporting to supervisors, and presentation of conceptual designs to audiences inside and outside of Textron Aviation.
