WEIGEL LIBRARY - THIRD FLOOR TIDBITS

Details, details, details

When you need help with detail examples for your projects - think Weigel Library!

Skip the Internet and come to Weigel for our resources illustrating outstanding details. Here are a few suggestions:

GA Document and GA Houses;
The Plan;
Detail in Contemporary ... books by Virginia McLeod;
Architecture in Detail I and II by Graham Bizley
Birkhauser publications and the overwhelming choice of APDesign students is (drum roll, please)...

Detail - Review of Architecture and Construction Details (NA 3 .D378)

Here's a favorite detail resource of Brendan Tucker (5th year Architecture and Weigel student assistant).

"Details of Modern Architecture (NA 2840 .F67 1990 v. 1 & 2)'s author's Edward R. Ford's precursor to his most important work to date, The Architectural Detail, in which he proposes five different definitions of detail and their role within architecture.

The two-volume set provides an analysis and illustrates both the technical and aesthetic importance of the role detailing plays within architecture. Covering a wide range of architectural movements and a wide variety of architects' seminal work, Ford attempts to decode the architect's intentions and execution of where architecture meets construction."
